

Subject: Traffic Alert - Area of Alexander Street and University Place

Date: Thursday, September 19, 2013 5:26:18 PM Eastern Daylight Time

From: Stefanie R. Karp (sent by All Employees E-list <allemp@Princeton.EDU>)

To: allemp@Princeton.EDU

At about 4:25 p.m., the overhead canopy at the former Princeton N.J. Transit Train Station tipped over into the track bed. The 200-foot canopy section covered the platform and track area, which has been fenced off due to ongoing construction activity. The station currently in use was relocated last month.

Princeton Fire Department, Princeton Police Department, the University's Department of Public Safety, Princeton First Aid and Rescue (PFARS) and the Mercer County Task Force that investigates structural collapses are all on scene. There are no known injuries at this time.

As a result of the investigation the area of Alexander Street and University Place should be avoided for minimally 2-3 hours.

Please use alternate routes for both vehicular and pedestrian traffic. Updates will be posted on the University Homepage: <http://www.princeton.edu/main/>.

Stefanie R. Karp

Director of Operations

Department of Public Safety

Princeton University

200 Elm Drive

Princeton, NJ 08544

Tel: (609) 258-3133

Fax: (609) 258-9773

E-mail: stefkarp@princeton.edu

<http://www.princeton.edu/publicsafety>

Emergency: 9-1-1 on campus or (609) 258-3333 off campus or cell phones

Non-emergencies: (609) 258-1000

This electronic communication, including any attached documents, may contain confidential and/or legally privileged information. The information is intended only for use by the recipient(s) named above. If you have received this communication in error, please notify the sender immediately and delete the communication and any attachments.